I can't tell you how dissappointed I am to hear your news. I am sure that the NASA Safety report will prevent any significant action being taken against you, but that will not prevent a violation from being recorded in your records. Then, that nasty 5-year clock starts ticking, not to mention the company's ability to take whatever action THEY want. Depressed? Don't be...as long as all of us obtain competent legal counsel, I think we will beat the whole thing. Regards, Mark
